Civil Service News

Greatly increased demands for higher compensation and shorter hours by civil service employees in the Department of Agriculture and other branches of the Government, Washington, D. C., have received attention. Numerous demands, considerable numbers of whom are women, are being made.

For the present, negotiations have been suspended, but negotiations will be held monthly, except for December, in view of the proposed plan of the United States Civil Service Commission to submit the question at Washington, D. C., in January.

Some four who are seeking to make experiments are active in the movement to increase compensation for agricultural laborers, especially negroes, now employed in the cotton fields of the South. On October 12, Mrs. Lillian Mandell, who works with the Negroes, addressed a meeting of Negroes in the South. She also called on Dr. E. T. Frazier, undersecretary of State.

Wood Picked Bad Time To Leave Exhaust Open

A wood stove found to be the cause of a fire in a home of the Negro community with the exhaust pipe open until it started the burning and the police on the scene found the people who were in bed out of doors with their clothes on because it was cold outside.

The enforcement section offers a necessary field to health and safety work here now.
